

ISASI Update

Periodic News from the International Society of Air Safety Investigators
No.2, September 18, 2013 Gary DiNunno, editor

Special Announcement Issue

Dear ISASI member:

We have updated the design and content of the ISASI web site, <http://www.isasi.org>, to improve how we communicate with you through the Internet. The new site is easier to navigate, more responsive to your information needs, and both new and current content is presented in a pleasant, easy-to-read format. When you visit our new site, please check that your contact information in the members' section is current. This will ensure that you receive important email messages, publications, and other communication from ISASI. Any necessary changes to your information should be forwarded to isasiwebmaster@gmail.com.

The digital age is quickly changing how organizations communicate with members and we intend to take advantage of its benefits to keep you updated and informed. We hope you will use the new site and will visit it often. The ISASI email newsletter and the Web Roundup News are new vehicles that will bring you those updates.

We will also continue to provide you current news about our successful programs such as Reachout, Scholarships, Seminars, Awards, and Mentoring.

Thank you for your continuing support of ISASI.

Sincerely,

Frank Del Gandio

Frank Del Gandio, President
ISASI